"Sanction Of Trust"

In the family
With paths of proven trust
We recognize respect
And if you don't
You completely suck
Through trial and error we see
What life really means
Hopelessly stuck in a rut
Stress
We join together
To fight it
The war of hate
Will never end
Until mankind's fate
In an enemy's face
A humble pride is replaced
Our soon patience is worn
Burning-insult
Regret the decision you have made
Never-will
Feel the power closing in on us
But the way of the sanction makes us strong
Hatred is what we feel
From stress tearing through our brain
The family has created
Escape from this extreme pain
If the world would
Respect with common sense
Things would be different
But unfortunately they're not
