When all the pictures
Lose their colors
Black and gray silhouettes
Are lost in the static
I want to taste your sunshine
On a bed of nails
You look to the man in the sky
But he was never there
When all the walls of false perception
Are crumbling at our feet
We will all remain
In a world
Where we can't

Take it all back
I don't know what I am but I don't belong here I...
Spent years in a peaceful world
Now it's time for the relapse
As the abyss stared back
Over my shoulder
I saw there were rays of light
It's almost over
After all the false promises of change
I've lost count of all we could have been
