They will disguise
And they're selling you a promise of salvation for your life
But at what cost
Are you willing to turn your back and fall in line?

It's not that I don't understand we all want answers
But the answers to questions we have can never be found

There's only one time around and I choose
Not to blindly follow the same people that abuse
And I've seen it first hand
They tried to cover it up
I was confused

It's not that I don't understand we all want answers
But the answers to questions we have can never be
found

Don't abandon the ones
Who you say that you love
They're the only reason to continue on
Don't get me wrong
I hate what they've done
I'll never forgive and forget
I'll never move on

I want you to know that I can still make do
Without the things you've tried to push into my mind [x2]

I don't need you, I don't need them
I'll be just fine
