"All You"

She's got everything she needs
But the gauge is reading empty again (whoa woah)
You always call it as you see
And you'll do it all day
Because it's what you believe

The way that you speak
Like you know it's so true
Your desperation is all you

(Dess-per-ay-shun)

So now you're everything she needs
The conversation's changing
And all your friends are saying
They told you before
You call it as you see...
When all that you need is walking out the door

The way that you speak
How you know it's so true
Your desperation is all you
You continue to say
How you never get through
You take the credit cause it's all you

Now you're everything she needs
Conversation's changing
All your friends are saying
They told you before
Call it as you see...
All that you need is walking out the door
