Suddenly I realize
Every hero pays the price,
And with no hesitation
I give her the kiss of life.

Dry land, don't cry on me,
How could I know?
The sky forgives no one
And the worst has yet to come.

Soaking right down to the bone
In your eternal rain,
I give in to temptation.
She was never meant to be saved.

Dry land, don't cry on me,
How could I know?
The sky forgives no one
And the worst has yet to come.

Dry land, don't cry on me,
How could I know?
The sky forgives no one
And the worst has yet to come.
