Ooh, now that I am free,
Swimming with the many fishes of the stream.
Yeah, and I am welcome here,
We all just connected swimmingly.

Streams of life digress
Like water running through my veins.

I'm learning how to breathe,
Living underwater,
I am deeper than the eye can see.
Yeah, it was meant to be,
Now I'm flowing with the current of the stream.

Streams of life digress
Like water running through my veins.
Running through my veins
Running through my veins.

I start my life again,
Just as well this ain't the first stream I have swam.
Cold water rushing to my brain
Is thicker than the blood that's flowing through my veins

Streams of life digress
Like water running through my veins.
Streams of blood like liquid love
Is rushing to my brain.

[VEINS]

It suddenly hits me in the heat of the sun,
A product of fear, far from human.
It suddenly hits me and crushes my world
Like a tidal wave trapped in my shell.

It suddenly hits me, what have I become?
Searching for answers in my aquarium.
It suddenly bites me and poisons my veins,
Lost and unable to find my way.

[DIGRESSION]

My chosen path, the direction that I take
Is the consequence of your greatest mistake.

When that day arrives, it's decision time.
Which way will I turn?
Will I ever really learn?

If I'm shown the way, I will never be alone.
The choice is mine in deciding where I'll go.

All our souls digressed, we started as one.
All our journeys will end at the same destination.

Streams of life digress
Like water running through my veins.
Streams of blood like liquid love
Is rushing to my brain.
