(Camerron/Hawkshaw)

It's so hard to say goodbye
Because my heart just can't stop loving you
It's so hard to say goodbye
And let you go, my love

Love colors your world in ever blending shades
But where is there to run to
When the coloring fades
I'm lost in the void, a lonely black charade
Love changes into sadness like a raging cascade
I'm so afraid to lose you
I can't accept the truth although I've tried
I need you all the time

It's so hard to say goodbye

Because I know I'll go on wanting you
It's so hard to say goodbye
But what else can I do
What else can I do

I know we must part to go our separate ways
But how can I be sure of just how much of me stays
When deep inside I need you
No matter what I tell myself, it's true
I need you all the time
