I used to be the woman over the hill
I used to be the one who would be standing still And now the time has come to see a different side to me You You will never know until you try
Oh yeah
All things must change
Though everything feels the same
People are running around everywhere
But you know I'll never change

(Chorus)

My unconditional love for you
Unconditional love that's true
My unconditional love for you
Unconditional love that's true

Instead of building bridges I was building walls Insecure I thought I had nothing at all Chasing lots of wrinkles thinking it was just another dream
Oh yeah
All things must change
Though everything feels the same
People are running around everywhere
But you know I'll never change

Repeat Chorus

All things must change
Though everything feels the same
People are running around everywhere
But you know I'll never change

Repeat Chorus
