The doubt that madness breeds feeds this eternity.
perhaps the promises were not intended to endure
The scars that life has carved fell deepest on your heart and the strength to overcome has left you waiting here.

But though the phantoms of this place want to steal away your grace I'll sleep beside you through the cold i will not leave you here And in this silence I can hear all the fury and the fear but i promise you my love
I will not leave you here
For I will bury you
Where they bury me
But the emptiness is filled and the hatred reconciled with a daily struggle to forget.
Beyond frustration and contempt is the pain of heaven spent by those ignorant and cold; at your expense.

I see, I see, I see we move with the water I feel, I feel, I feel this darkness receding I see, I see, I see we flow like the ocean I feel, I feel, Oh God I don't think I'm breathing.
