So don't go away
And leave me standing here alone
Broken down from my defeat
Please calm down and stay
Because it's so much better
With you here
For every sunrise, sunset, and everything between

It's not the first time
These thoughts will get the best of me
But unlike last time
These hazy eyes can finally see
No it's not picture perfect
And things may never ever be
So take this for what it's worth
And know that it's

Alright, alright

So don't go away
And leave me standing here alone
Broken down from my defeat
Please calm down and stay
Because it's so much better
With you here
For every sunrise, sunset, and everything between

It's just like last time
But without all those mistakes
That we lived and relived
While we tried to make a way
Just know that this is worth it
And this may take a little time
Like writing down these versus
Just to get it

Right, alright
So don't go away
And leave me standing here alone
Broken down from my defeat
Please calm down and stay
Because it's so much better

With you here
For every sunrise, sunset, and everything between

So don't go away
And leave me standing here alone
Broken down from my defeat
Please calm down and stay
Because it's so much better
With you here
