Pull down the sheets and reveal the blood.
The sweat still lingers in the air from the night before.
I pressed tightly against her and I left the imprint of leather
And by the time that we awoke, snow covered the ground.
We weren't concerned about the entrance,
We thought everything was quiet.
So gasp for breath my angel.
Gasp for breath.
Oh, my love, my eyes tuned down.
Oh, my beauty, where is my child?
(Save my life)
Through the years her blood runs cold.
I stole her love and hit the door.
