Time has come to let you know what's going on what is left now there's nothing there in my mind it is all going wrong and what I need is someone else to care

Spend the nights with someone else than me it's not the way I really want a man Chasing girls was all that you could see and now the time has come to understand

Tell me who can live with all the pain that you create I'm leaving time has come to tell you it's too late

What I'll do I'll find myself
another man another lover
Somebody that I can hold
You're the reason that I want
Another man another love
Not anyone like you or just as cold

Oh I can move I'll be dancing in the street but to the beat that I myself desire Standing still is not the way to move your feet but my heart was never there for hire

Tell me who can live with all the pain that you create

another man another lover
Somebody that I can hold
You're the reason that I want
Another man another love
Not anyone like you or just as cold
