Take this mask away
I can't live this life
My passion blinded
Judgment's sight
Take my soul away
I won't say anything
Take me tonight, take my life

Relieve me of this torture
I want to see, I want to see again
The way things were before
Cleanse me before the end

I want to live like things were
But wait things will never be the same

Deceive me, cast me in the shadows
You played me, for the fool I am

I liked your words at first
The way they caught up crowds
And silenced those who opposed
We all followed blindly with thoughts that your hollow promises of change would come true
But now as I stand, I can't even fathom the destruction you've caused
To those who can't stand the oppression
I tell you to raise your fist in the air, together we scream!

I'll come to grips, I'll accept my fate
I know that it can't change

Oh, if I turn back, will there be anything
If I can't but I must accept this life

So Deceive me, cast me in the shadows
You played me, for the fool I am
