Now i could tell you a fable
You might not be able to understand
Cause everything in you
That knew how to dream
Has run into the sand
And it's so complicated
The world you've created for yourself
You're feeling like no one
You wanna be someone
You might as well be someone else

Stupid man
Running around
Stupid man
Why don't you slow down

Running and chasing symbols
Ideas and intention that are not your own
Spinning and turning so fast
That you forget where's home
You never stop to think about
Where it could be heading
The road on which you're going
Afraid to open up afraid to get hurt
Cause there's no way of knowing

Don't you know you're alive
All that you need
