Test the air but flinch from walls
The fears you deny will leave you paralyzed
Content to float along the blackened lines
Don't touch your feet to ground

You could clear the mesh, an interface that interferes
Yet you beg for the pattern you know, you loved
Chart a course, bind us 3 mark 4
The clock strikes zero, pressing hands again

So we can set the date
The trial begins anew today
Erase what precedes, but notch eraser day
Random colors will condense into one

And it will strike the grid below
Find an arc of fire and shatter the walls
This is your last, best chance to bend the grid, draw a curve
Chart a course, bind us 3 mark 4

The clock strikes zero, pressing hands again
So we can set the date
The trial begins anew today
Erase what precedes, but notch eraser day

Indirect, the alternate, come and detach yourself
You've seen the sky and now you know its real
The time has come, your choice has been revealed
Test the air, and find the walls

You'll find there is an opening
The choice is yours
