Write this down
With hands that you can't hold still
As you shake and you wait for the thrill to fade
From first kiss to last chance we go
Here's what we fell for tonight
It's adrenaline mixed with the memory
Of your doorstep and goodnights

We write these lines
To make you weak at the knees
I'll tell you everything
To make you believe in me
We design these lives
To sweep you all off your feet
I'd tell you anything
To make you believe in me

Close them tight,
And hit play on the slowest song you know
Listen out for the part where it's boy meets girl
And the choir kicks in
I know you're nervous tonight
But it's nothing compared to the late nights spent
Trading sleep in for skipped beats
