One more year just past today
A year ago I felt the same
Trapped in a lost situation
And solutions are too complicated
One more year will pass again
The hourglass just starts to end
The time I need lays before me
To kill my never-ending story
In due time, sands won't fall
May the moment freeze so I can take time to keep I'll see

What is ever-moving
Closer seemed so far away
In time - tomorrow will become today
What is left behind forever is too far away
In time - the past will only stay
In time - all that's left is my stone name

One more tear just fell today
A tear that tries to wash my pain
Wasted in a useless location
Not in mind was this dull vocation
One more tear will pass again
A wishful thought my only friend
So much time I have now before me
I'll start to write my unknown story

[repeat chorus]

[solo]

In due time sands will fall
When my moment comes
I'll keep the time that I need

To have

Tomorrow what was ever moving closer is now here today
In time - I'll forget my lonely days
No sorrow - I have left behind forever my void-filled

In time - the past will breathe my name
Tomorrow - gone away and moving onward to better
In time - I'll laugh the nights away
No sorrow - try for now to see forever my glory-filled
In time - all time will know my name
In time - in time we'll see the end
