[Chorus]

Oh, oh
Hello, hello you look so good
Your number I'll be callin
We have so much in common
So much in common
Hello, hello you look so good
My bodys a heart and I forget
Wheres my restart button
Wheres my restart button
Oh, oh

Well you took a ride on the energy express
And You know we make a fuss
But we never make a mess
And you know deep down were better than the rest
You know deep down were better than the rest
It's been so long since I've been home
It feels so good everywhere
So I forget where I belong
They all love us for a stupid little song
Yeah they all love us for a stupid little song
The clouds they said to smile today
It's gonna be alright in every single which way
If black could talk what do you think it would say
It white could talk what you think it would say
Yeah red needed to be medicated
Blue needed to be vindicated
But golds so pretty and for that I hate it
But golds so pretty and for that I hate it

[Chorus]

Yeah we make pictures in every single color
But I can't hide the fact that I'm not my brother
You're better than me but I'm better than the other
Yeah you can try on your cherry lipstick
It looks so good it makes me wanna kiss it
And all the broken colors are so exquisite
Yeah all the broken colors are so exquisite
Everyone knows this game is over
I didn't do swell so I try and flip it over

But I'll probably get left out in the rain
I probably wont ever get to play the next game

[Chorus]

Oh, tell me what you like about me
