Everyday I wake up into the sunrise
Another day another day in the life
Either way I continue to breathe
For a day it would be nice to see
And go where the wind blows

Cover me up completely with your love
Between the earth beneath me, and skies above
And in your ocean darling I will drown
Like wilted roses darling upside down

Looking back looking over my shoulder
Realize we are becoming older
Either way I continue to breathe
For a day it would be nice to see
And go where the wind blows

Cover me up completely with your love
Between the earth beneath me and skies above
And in your ocean darling I will drown
Like wilted roses darling upside down

Madness is falling on me
Distorting all that I see
Crawling back into my shell
Falling so deep in your well

[Guitar solo, then obasi kill em' wit d drums]

Roses roses these wilted roses
Roses roses these wilted roses

Roses roses these wilted roses
Roses roses these wilted roses
