Seduced by a girl at the apex of spring
More perfect and charming than beauty unseen
So sweet and compelling unheard of by name
Deceived by temptation I was rendered insane
Absorbed by her features compelled by her lips
She was cast in perfection with her secrets eclipsed

Who is the girl who lives in my dreams?
Seduced by the kisses of Cinnabar Sweet

Compelled by her looks and the sense of her skin
I was tempted by lust and the promise of sin
She seduced me so softly with lips all so red
Her affection was nectar only mercury fed
Controlled by her lips and the touch of her hand
I surrendered to passion I did not understand

Who is the girl who lives in my dreams?
Seduced by the kisses of Cinnabar Sweet

I swallowed the nectar her kisses possessed
And waited for secrets her passion confessed
Seduced to believe that perfection would start
I was wakened from dreams by the pains in my heart
I was carried to heaven by kisses delight
But the lips that I tasted they ended my life

Who is the girl who lives in my dreams?
Seduced by the kisses of Cinnabar Sweet
