

Organic Critters "Destined Child"

Visit "Destined Child" on MotoLyrics.com

(Levi Oliver)

[Verse 1]

She's a destined child and she sits, with dreams of having friends all this while, she's cried, behind an old white picket fence and everyday, she's been alone, the school yard corner is all she's known, her loneliness, I feel as if it were my own
And the rain comes, down on her but she remains there, all alone and the thunder begins to roll well it's a shame, another, lost soul [Chorus]

well listen to me, little one cause someday you're going to feel a little lost but in the end, pretty one it'll turn out right, you'll see oh believe me and then, in the pouring rain, a distant voice, echo's out she turns to see, her father, pleading her forgiveness again and still, the rain comes down on her and it washes, the blood away and as she can do nothing a tearful mother, watches on [Chorus]

Visit Organic Critters page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.