The priest, so devoted to god
United mind, body and soul
But how easy he fails
To the test of faith
When he sees a young girl in a short dress
So he weaves his web like a spider
And catches his motionless prey
Her innocence taken
Her body profaned
By this sick and filthy man of sin
Malignant minds, malevolent mankind
Poisonous desires, evil transpires

Evil lives inside your skin
Implanted deep from within
Even the creatures of light
Have succumbed to the taste of sin

The suicidal one
So tired of being alive
Misery has become his daily bread
And his life means nothing
But another sorrowful day
So he points the gun to his head
Wishing soon to be dead
Using the cowardly escape
But what does he care
When nothing's left to lose anyway
Malignant minds, malevolent mankind
Everything forbidden, seems so interesting
Your senses awaken, seems so tempting

Evil lives inside your skin
Implanted deep from within
Even the creatures of light
Have succumbed to the taste of sin

The young couples
So careless about sex and drugs
Indulgence of lust
And passion explodes
When desire becomes overwhelming

So and unwanted child will be born
Full of disease and deformed
But the innocent one
Will never see the light
Another unpunished abortion performed
Malignant minds, malevolent mankind
Poisonous desires, evil transpires

Evil lives inside your skin
Implanted deep from within
Even the creatures of light
Have succumbed to the taste of sin

Father please forgive us
For we love to sin
Venomous, poisonous, hateful, treacherous...
