"Leave The Shades Behind"

Fall asleep, search the noise of silence
Now it's time to call your soul and look at your faults
Let your Spirit rise over every event
Look about yourself and try to give it your best
Look into the sky, leave the shades behind
Step by step you'll see doubts dissolve in the wind
Fall asleep, find the reason for your sins,
See the mirror on the sand, turn and cry your name!

You chose the light, follow your path
Open the doors stop your race
You chose the truth, rising stars will light your way,
Listen to what they say

Far away, you're in another place
Can't see the light coming back to me
Time has gone and you can't take my hand

I call your name, surely in vain

The flames is rising high, slowly I'm burning in this Hell
In my mind I feel the pain of all the bodies lying on the ground
Black shadows of the past are killing me in this war of mine listening to the cry of Silence, I will run

Far away, you're in another place
Can't see the light coming back to me
Time has gone and you can't take my hand
I call your name, surely in vain
Listen my lies, don't lose your hopes tonight
You can turn dreams into reality
But I know, the rain falls down again
Maybe I'll find you reaching my hand
