They came from far away
From a land in a frozen time
Through ice and snow they walked
With their broken homes in mind they cried

Without a warning
They ended all lives in their way
In search for a land
Where they could forever stay

Blood on the snow and cries in the wind
Victims of hate, they fell to the ground
One by one, they tasted vengeance
No one could fight the soldiers in a frozen time

With tears in their eyes
The ground was painted in red
They searched for revenge
By the frozen hate they were led

Blood on the snow and cries in the wind
Victims of hate, they fell to the ground
One by one, they tasted vengeance
No one could fight the soldiers in a frozen time

A battle in tears for the homes
They had lost in the cold
They murdered all those who dared
To come in their way

Who were those soldiers
With frozen hate inside
And all poor victims
Who had no place to hide

Blood on the snow and cries in the wind
Victims of hate, they fell to the ground
One by one, they tasted vengeance
No one could fight the soldiers in a frozen time

The soldiers in a frozen time
They murdered all those who dared

To come in their way
