(Tom T. Hall)

The first strange town I was ever in
The county was hanging a man
Nobody cared if he lived or died
And I just didn't understand.

So I washed my face in the morning dew
Bathed my soul in the sun
Washed my face in the morning dew
And kept on moving along.

The second town I was in
They were laughing at a poor crippled man
Begging for nickels and dimes
On the street and I didn't understand.

So I washed my face in the morning dew
Bathed my soul in the sun
Washed my face in the morning dew
And kept on moving along.

--- Instrumental ---

The third strange town that I was in
Was settled so peaceful and nice
The rich got richer and the poor got poorer
To me it didn't seem right.

So I washed my face in the morning dew
Bathed my soul in the sun
Washed my face in the morning dew
And kept on moving along.

Someday times are bound to change
It can't be very far
And each injustice I have seen
Will come before the bar.

So I washed my face in the morning dew
Bathed my soul in the sun

Washed my face in the morning dew
And kept on moving along...
