Nah nah nah
That's part of the That's, yeah
I got ya good that time, shawty

Start over again
Everything happens for a reason
Good doesn't come without pain
Start over again
Everything happens for a reason

Ain't it funny how you're born and then your life begins
Just like a baby all alone, that's if you wasn't a twin
You must begin to fend for self when the umbilical's cut
The doctor put you under the heating lamp, your spirit is touched

You know what, I take that back, why you was alive?
Date of conception, interception 'cause the sperm did collide
From T 'n A to DNA, feelings turn to children
The morning after pill didn't put a halt to our very existence

We livin', breathin', soon we'll be teethin'
Our granny got a gold and now we want one for that reason
An adolescent mind is so impressionable in those stages
But parents got to parent their kids to keep them out of cages

Cell therapists beware of this lugie that I spit Incarceration without rehabilitation really don't mean shit
Little Ricky's home, he gotta serve probation for six months
But Uncle Donnel and Ol' Dirty Bastard still in the joint Reset

Start over again
Everything happens for a reason

Good doesn't come without pain
Start over again
Everything happens for a reason

Start over again
Everything happens for a reason
Good doesn't come without pain
Start over again
Everything happens for a reason

Good does not come without pain
Meaning, before it gets better, it's goin' get worse
Like my homies on the sick side still dyin' over turf
That don't belong to urse, I mean us, left in the dust

Try to catch up with massah
I used to wanna wrap my hands around the esophagus of them crackers
But Ephesians 6:12 said it wasn't flesh and blood
That we wrestle against principalities

Powers of this world, rulers of darkness and spiritual wickedness
In high places, so throw all that whole armor of righteousness
I spark this thang, but my name ain't Bubba
I got a problem with racist cab drivers, like Glover

And brothers that wax fat and forget all about the struggle
Ah, yeah, come on, come on Guess what, guess what

Start over again
Everything happens for a reason
Good doesn't come without pain
Start over again
Everything happens for a reason

Listen to me, I awaken to sunlight that's beyond bright
This day will be done right
There is a war just waiting on the other side of the door
But I'll be bringing God to the gunfight

Can't live forever, so have some fun, right
Life's a bowl of candy, you can have one, right
You can handle if tomorrow never come, right
You'll get used to singin' if only for one night

But I intend to raise two daughters and a son right
And I couldn't have wrote this if I was hopeless

And see I focus to provoke this
So open wide for my opinionated opus

I'm playin' Go Fish, but not below this Before I go, I thought that you all should know this Recognize and realize before any regretting
Before you relapse, perhaps you'll consider resetting Hmm?

Start over again
Everything happens for a reason
