

Overcast

"As The Curtain Falls"

Visit "As The Curtain Falls" on MotoLyrics.com

Dime a dozen for your thoughts
Think that for yourself
Your mind is a shell allowed to rot.
Opinions generate from your latest friends and scenes.
Never go against what your friends believe.
I heard you laugh.
Now where is your laughter
As this world falls through and under?
It falls apart at it's seams.
All your hopes, all your dreams.
You never thought to find some truth.
Just accept there are no absolutes.
You knew too much to care at all but,
Where will you be when the curtain falls?
Now it's all too late, you can't go back
You can't rechoose your fate.
You had your choices, you had nothing to loose.
But, now you lost your choices, you have nothing left to choose.
If nothing else, put the blame on your friends.
Knowing very well it was all in your own hands,
The curtain falls
Some surprise, the curtain falls,
Now your world dies.
You don't have to follow all of your friends.
You don't have to go along with all of the trends.
You don't need to be a part of it all.
Where will you be when the curtain falls?

Visit Overcast page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.