In a distant Galaxy
In a small planet lives this race
Slaves of their minds lost in fear
By the power of time they're fading away

They don't know they're part of God
Their bodies holy temples
They're always called back home
But can't hear the eternal song

Father sun warm them up
They take comfort of mom nature

But like bad seeds they don't grow up
To their world one day they shall return

And there big masters live
In different times different lands
Revealing them great mysteries
But just a few could understand

[Chorus:]
You're really big
Big as the universe
(You've) gotta learn the way back home
There's something for you
You're not alone
For the stars you're the only one

Lost in illusions they are
Their eyes can see no more
Throwing their forces away
Waiting for another day

[Chorus:]
You're really big
Big as the universe
(You've) gotta learn the way back home
Open your eyes
This is the time
To find out the secrets of life
