These are times that we must fight
To keep in tact the words and truths we've etched
Upon our hearts, our hearts that pump
The blood thru veins, the blood sustains and the blood remains Vital to life, and I will write out in my blood the truth I know,
That brought me to my place in life
And toward the light that beckons me
To fall down on my knees and face the cross
For Your blood cleanses me
The chains that bind my soul released
Your blood renews, Your blood rebirths,
Your blood refines, Your blood restores Wash me in Your blood
Conversion, my second chance at life.
