Living in a poor country beside the hungry inside a war Lacking education the population don't ask for more Greedy foul politicians sell the nation betray their folks Look at this humble people without ambitions living like ghosts

They just pray - They just wait

With this old prescription the situation is getting worse
Selfish childish people control the earth in a foolish Game holding their privileges they close Their minds and keep this shame
It is a time bomb that may go off at any time

And you say, "This is the way - It's just fate"
Then I say, "There is no fate - We made it"
"Get smart now and take some action!"

We're lost in a big small world without morals without values
Where the cunning worms and the mercenaries make the laws
Ethics, integrity and honesty turned into trash
Don't be a hypocrite cause you're part of it too
We are all guilty of this

What kind of future may we expect with this attitude?
Have some compromise with the human race and with yourself
So when you face death your existence will have made sense
You may not change the whole world but at last do your share your way

Do what you can - Do your best
This will make a big difference in the end Use your brain and take some action!

Greedy foul politicians sell the nation betray their folks
Selfish childish people control the earth in a foolish

It's a time bomb that may go off at any time Don't be a hypocrite cause you're part of it too we are all guilty of this Ethics, integrity and honesty turned into trash

What kind of future may we expect with this attitude?
Have some compromise with the human race and with
You may not change the whole world but at last do your share
