From the onset of my existence on this earth
I moved toward the bleakness of death
From the start of my being my thoughts were bent on the things that pull
Me towards the blackness of hell
From the beginning of my time my body has walked this plane
Without the sensation of life

I've expired
My heart's failed
My life's ceased
I draw no breath

Lay your hands on my chest
Reanimate me, revive this lifeless body
Let my heart begin to beat again
Let these veins pulse with the life you've bought

Raise me from this fleshly grave
Raise me, let me know your resurrection
Your resurrection
Your resurrection
Your resurrection
