i'm over and i'm out. i'm loud and i'm clear. i'm over and i'm out. i'm loud and clear. all my hands and teeth are getting off soon. the cat's already at the faucet, the girls are in bed, and i know you, you'll come home from work. all cool violence and smiles. quiet as time and twice as handy. quiet as time and twice as handy. didn't you love me goddamning evey mirror behind every goddamn bar, my easy aloof through tilt and clatter? my integrity in tennis shoes? the combs would know a gorgone before the mirror. in time hands can change a face, but only lose all second chances. of all you could've been but can't. blind as miles and quiet as time. i'm over and i'm out. loud and i'm clear. i'm over and i'm out. loud and i'm clear. i'm over and i'm out. loud and i'm clear.
