I ought be shot for thinkin' that you could love me
I ought be hung for keepin' up my hopes
I got to be crazy for thinkin' that it could work out
I ought know better, I ought let go

It's only Monday, and my heart's already broken
I had a feeling it was gonna be different this time
But you were just talkin', goin' through the motions
And all the teachings were backin' up your lines

I ought be shot for thinking that you could love me
I ought be hung for keepin' up my hopes
I got to be crazy for thinking that it could work out
I ought know better, I ought let go

Day after day brings night after night without sleeping
You keep me waitin' and you know what I'm waitin' for
Some kind of affection that I can believe in
You give me just a little, I want a little bit more

I ought be shot for thinking that you could love me
I ought be hung for keepin' up my hopes
I got to be crazy for thinking that it could work out
I ought know better, I ought let go

Day after day brings night after night without sleeping
You keep me waitin' and you know what I'm waitin' for
Some kind of affection that I can believe in
You give me just a little, I want a little bit more

I ought be shot for thinking that you could love me
I ought be hung for keepin' up my hopes
I got to be crazy for thinking that it could work out
I ought know better, I ought let go

I ought be shot for thinking that you could love me
I ought be hung for keepin' up my hopes
I got to be crazy for thinking that it could work out
I ought know better, I ought let go

I ought know better, I just ought let go
Man, I've got to be crazy, some kind of fever
