

After Crying

"Yield To Temptation"

Visit "Yield To Temptation" on MotoLyrics.com

They told you not to yield to temptation
And opened their arms,
Make your own inferences...

Inscrutable chaos in my head, inevitably
Greed will take it's toll
Why?
There's no place to hide
Let me free myself

The anathema's driving millions,
Together in the pustules of our earth
Greed and self-denial,
The cause of unimpeded desecration of the truth

They told you not to yield to temptation,
But offered you only hypocrisy and ruin

The phantom of damnation
Threw her coat over humanity

They told you not to yield to temptation,
But offered you only hypocrisy and ruin

They told you not to yield to temptation,
But offered you only hypocrisy and ruin

Captive in the shackles of this indoctrination,
Depraved souls wished to be pure
Delight in deformity,
The last convulsions are building up
A bridge to a new era

The assumption of a faded supposition,
Never shall I be a marionette

The embrace that smothers...

Visit After Crying page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
