All along the way
You been scratching your name deep in us
We're nothing save
Lets just say... distracted
When questioned it's delay or defuse
Beaten down again
It's nothing new
I'd bring you with me
If you were human too
But I'm face to face with this silicon wall

Hold the truth like steel
Don't want to lose what I feel
When every breath seems real

Pump me full of happy medium
We want something more
We the brighter, faster, harder generation
Are coming knocking at your door
Hacking down your door

I know we can make it
I know that if we try
They'll fall
I just can't take it any more
Another, another with nothing apart

Come back along the way
Been erasing your name out of me
Now I'm not safe
Let's just say I'm free

Mould our thoughts like clay
Then send us off on our way
This is the price we pay for our fear
