Pick up the pieces of your life
That are shattered on the floor
Shivers of glass that cut the flesh
The pain of hope no more

I feel the passion and desire
In every piercing shroud
Completely useless to a wall of stone
But deadly to the heart

Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
Speak your wish if you desire
Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
His domain possesses fire
Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
His domain possesses fire
Speak your wish if you desire

Tears of blood drip down her face
And line upon white cloth
Is there no compassion left among us
In any human heart

Or is the darkness just too thick
For our fragile souls to bear
Do you think the gods are watching us?
Do you think they fucking care?

Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
Speak your wish if you desire
Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
His domain possesses fire
Speak the name - collector of shattered souls
His domain possesses fire
Speak your wish if you desire

Watching you from the dark
I see your little mind
I am the fear that haunts your soul
And tries to wreck your life
I am the negativity that leads you to your grave
Psychotic childhood memories

Replaced by blood stain

Speak the name - collector of shattered souls

Speak your wish if you desire

Speak the name - collector of shattered souls

His domain possesses fire

Speak the name - collector of shattered souls

His domain possesses fire

Speak your wish if you desire.
