Oh, I just remembered, the sun will rise again
The unopened door will open someday
Every time I saw them, those flowers looked more miserable
But they are in their full glory now, nothing can compare

It will fly to the greatest world
Numbers of the dice will be changed someday
Don't forget the soul at that time
So many happiness going the break

Take issues with everything, then the outside turns the inside
Stupid logics become something stands to reason
Will you lock the door of thoughts from the inside again?
Break it, bloom desperately

It will fly to the greatest world
It will sink into the world of cells
Don't forget the clod at that time
So many happiness only the brain

It will fly to the greatest world
It will connect with the opened world
Don't forget the soul at that time
Wise happiness force your brain

On the brain
On the break
On the brain

Shut the fuck up
