Set your sails leave this dock off to a better place to see his face but all you'll find will be an empty space without a trace

In her twisted mind she believes she's fine wake up, wake up, wake up she believes she's fine

An empty chair at all the tables that he left behind a state of mind
she makes the bed and rests her head beside the empty spot that's all she's got

In her twisted mind she believes she's fine
wake up, wake up, wake up
In her twisted mind

Trapped and cold deep down this hole there's no rope to climb he waits for her in her mind though time seems to go on and on, on and on

Wake up, wake up, got to wake up, wake up, got to wake up wake up, got to wake up wake up

Trapped and cold deep down this hole
there's no rope to climb
though time seems to go on and on, on and on

Trapped and cold deep down this hole, on and on there's no rope to climb, on and on

Trapped and cold deep down this hole, on and on
