In a world of broken souls and lies
Few hearts survive
Can we find the faith?
In a world where trust is soon betrayed
A selfish game
Can we find the faith?
And when it seems that faith is gone
And the doubts just carry on
Sometimes it seems love is simply blind

Love sees what no eye can see
Love hears what we cannot hear

In a world where life can often change
And lead to pain
Can we find the hope?
And when it seems that hope is gone
And the doubts just carry on
Sometimes it seems love is simply blind

Love sees what no eye can see
Love hears what we cannot hear
It consumes the soul with pure desire
And waters cannot quench the fire
What no one else believes
Love sees

The heart of love has reasons
That reason cannot understand
