I got so sick of being on my own
Now the devil won't leave me alone
It's almost like I found a friend
Who's in it for the bitter end

Our consciences
Are always so much heavier than our egos
I set my expectations high
So nothing ever comes out right

So shoot a star on a boulevard tonight
I think I'll figure it out
With a little more time
But who needs time

Turn off the lights, turn off the lights
Turn on the charm for me tonight.
I got my heavy heart to hold me down
Once it falls apart, my head's in the clouds
So I'm taking every chance I got
Like the man I know I'm not

So sick of wasting all my time
How in God's name did I survive
I need a little sympathy
Disarm my insecurities

Our consciences

Are always so much heavier than our egos
I set my expectations high
So nothing ever comes out right

So shoot a star on a boulevard tonight
I think I'll figure it out
With a little more time
But who needs time

Turn off the lights, turn off the lights
Turn on the charm for me tonight.
I got my heavy heart to hold me down
Once it falls apart, my head's in the clouds

So i'm taking every chance I got
Like the man i know I'm not

Oh, oh, oh, mmhmm
A heavy heart on the boulevard tonight, oh
Shooting stars watch me fall apart tonight, whoa oh oh
oh oh

Turn off the lights, turn off the lights
Turn on the charm for me tonight
I've got my heavy heart to hold me down
Once it falls apart, my head's in the clouds
So taking every chance I got
Like the man I know I'm not

Oh whoa, oh whoa, oh whoa
Oh whoa, oh whoa, oh whoa
