

After Forever "For The Time Being"

Once he was someone whose honesty made me believe
That we could rely on him
Don't adhere to much to people who have no worth
And parts of life which don't last forever
He is branded as a hypocrite,
Prompted by the provoked will of his father
For the Time Being
Be yourself, don't conform to the opinion of others
Life is too short to fall into prudence
You needed lies to save your skin
You'd better take your own responsibilities
Desipio
Incogitabilis
I don't feel compassion anymore
You're old enough to stand up for yourself
