your know where you are headed but your lost along the way and the strangers that you see are getting stranger everyday and the blood continues flowing but the brain oh the brain slowly drips out and you crashed into the city with a smile upon your face and a body charged with music from the earphones in your case but the pressure keeps on growing but paradise,paradise is on it way

And i say no no no we may never know there's enough suprises here to keep us going yea yea yea heres another day we're gonna step outside and take it all in while your looking for some action as a hunter your on fire there's some scary confrontations but never look them in the eye

but there are miles and miles of pleasures to be had so no dont be sad never be sad now your drowning in your coffe yea your livin life so fast and one eye is staying golden while the other's seeing black and the blood continues rushing and realize what here to be had no no no we may never know there's enough suprises here to keep us going

no no no(ouuuuuuu)

yea yea yea(ouuuuuuu)
