After what you've done here
Do you really want to start
then you have to pull it out
Just pull it from my heart

Four and twenty photographs imprinted on my brain
Kind of sordid images that bring back all the pain
If the law of averages will come and be the same
Get out of this losing streak and win a suit again.

Consciousness and bandages it's time to get it right
Refuses to abandon ship and sink without a fight
Maybe I should take a trip and start with something new Pull this bullet from my heart It's better without you

It's not raining; you won't rain on me again
It's not raining; you won't rain on me again

If fashion is the key, you've got the latest style
It's just a shame you will spend you're whole life in denial
Find someone to blame and haven't even get it right
Come up with new excuses and I lost out on the side

Baby your disease is something I can't really stand
I'm not too proud to say it but some people understand
I'm shouting pretty loud, and yeah I'm beating pretty hard
But I have to pull it out just pull it from my heart

It's not raining, you won't rain on me again
It's not raining, you won't rain on me again

After what you've done here
Do you really want to start
Then you have to pull it out
This bullet from my heart

(It's not raining, you won't rain on me again)

It's not raining, you won't rain on me again) x 2
