somewhere, lost in the wind im watching you
sunlight touching your hair and i remember
somehow, we said that we would never stray
but somehow weve lost our way promises, too often spoken are easily broken apart and im ready this time i know that im no longer undecided

no, no
and i dont wanna be
a fool wondering
what might have been

trace of forever lingering drawing me closer to you a new beginning
now i know there is no doubt
i understand just how fragile love can be

i cant forget
your memory by me
now i know where i belong....

through everyday
into the night
when we got love to guide us and i dont wanna be a fool wondering what might have been let the loving decide i can run, i can hide...

im ready to go
my heart will show
that im ready...

search everywhere

nothing compares with only love to guide us
and i dont wanna be
a fool wondering
what might have been
im wondering what might have been were gonna find what might have been ive got to know what might have been yeah....

ooohh...
what might have been
what might have been
yeah...
