Woke up today without you

I never thought this could happen to me

I still hear you say "I miss you"

I still hear you say "I need to be free"

Out on the streets rain is falling

And it looks like how I feel

Even the wind is calling

Missing you like I did

Refrain:

How could I ever stop these tears from falling

Will I ever close my eyes tonight

How could I ever live without you

By my side

I know that someday you'll wake up

Turning around and trying to find

The one you have lost

The love you gave up

The love you have left behind

Refrain

And if you are lost and lonely

Knock on my door and I'll be there

Tell me I am the one and only

Tell me you're through be care

Then finally I stop these tears from falling

Then finally I close my eyes in the night

How could I ever lived without you

By my side
