I did my time
I paid my price
For all these things I did
I lost my feet
You said your peace
I thought that that was it
So while you sleep so peacefully
And all your sins are buried deep
While you're dreaming I'm outside
Digging up the ones I missed

When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around again?
I don't ever know
When's it coming back again?
You can try all you want
But the past knows what you did
And I can't seem to get away from it
When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around, baby, coming back
around again?

I've been chewed up, I've been spit out
But never thought to quit
I've taken blows and felt them all
But nothing close to this
So when you sleep so peacefully
And all your sins are buried deep
While you're dreaming I'm outside
Digging up the ones I missed

When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around again?
I don't ever know
When's it coming back again?
You can try all you want
But the past knows what you did
And I can't seem to get away from it
When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around, baby, coming back
around again?

My backs against the wall
I'm feeling for the door but I can't find it
As enough as a me (?)
And as I'm standing there
Oh, she walks in
And blurry beers are becoming clear
And I can finally see

When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around again?
I don't ever know
When's it coming back again?
You can try all you want
But the past knows what you did
And I can't seem to get away from it
When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around, baby, coming back
around again?

When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around again?
When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around again?
And I can't seem to get away from it
When's it coming back again?
When's it coming back around, baby, coming back around
Coming back around, baby, coming back around again?
