It's time to go the microphone yells california but you know you'll never leave this state so dont say i didnt warn ya.
its time to go my tickets waiting but you know no matter where I go, the sky remains the same.

I'll watch you board this plane, i'll watch as you let go no one can take your place, she said just please come home

We used to feel so right, have we lost it all how can you take this away from me when that shooting star that we saw says you're wrong

So right this all down in a letter confessing that you never, you said you never meant for any of this wake up and prepair for the let down your voice fades out cuz your scared to start over again

Its been far too long, i must be moving on thanks for the scars you caused i wont forget this.

shooting star that we saw
