I'll let you go for now
See you in a thousand years
A thousand years, a million years in time
I should have known somehow
Now I lie in bed
It's in my head, it's in my head
The things you said before

The time you walked away
The day I said please stay

If I had to crash my car
Hundred miles an hour
I'll be sitting here and watch myself die
If you had to say goodbye
Say it over and over
Until my heart stops beating this time

The time you walked away
The day I begged please stay

If I had to crash my car
Hundred miles an hour
I'll be sitting here and watch myself die
If you had to say goodbye
Say it over and over
Until my heart stops beating this time

Until my heart stops beating this time
Until my heart stops beating this time
