

Paraluman "Silence"

Visit "Silence" on MotoLyrics.com

He lets out
A boisterous emotional scream
On all fours
A sickened picture of life's frame

But I hold him inside
I hold him against my will
And all that is inside
Is placed afar from what he's for

I know he's gone too far, too far
He willingly decides to spill his every eye's display
I know he's gone too far, too far

He's halfway
From where his rest needs to be done
He's lovely
And him away is making me let go

But I hold him inside
I hold him against my will
And all that is inside
Is placed afar from what he's for

I know he's gone too far, too far
He willingly decides to spill his every eye's display

I know he's gone too far, too far
He willingly decides to spill his every eye's display

To spill his every eye's display
To spill his every eye's display
Eye's display

Visit Paraluman page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.