

Paralysed Age "Dunes"

Visit "Dunes" on MotoLyrics.com

Come to my heart and listen to my soul
Im standing still where is my way to take me home
If there's no way I wont go further anymore
My whole world leaves me cold and alone
Memory hurts so many times
My destination
Is there anything covering all
My destination
Come to my heart and listen to my soul
There's so much in life I really try to forget
Its not just the sorrow the emptiness and pain
Even the glad days burning deep inside
Memory hurts so many times
My destination
Watch the dunes moving on
My destination
And they're moving on
They're strong and mighty cover everything
They're strong and mighty let us all forget
They bury everything all that is gone and born one day
They bury everything
They bury everything
And the dunes are moving on
Moving on
They bury everything all that is gone and born one day
Higher then the grass growing over the past
Something you should know reality of life
At some time or other they discover all your past
Do I know my failures
Do I know the tomorrow
My destination
Feeling dull but have to go further
My destination
And the dunes are moving on
Moving on

Visit Paralysed Age page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.